

Kone - Fudan Nordic Centre scholarships for research periods at the Fudan Nordic Centre in Shanghai are open for applications. All researchers and academic staff of the Nordic Centre's Finnish member universities are eligible for this scholarship meant for a 4-6 months research period in China during the academic year 2019-2020. The Nordic Centre at Fudan University, Shanghai will offer the grantees office space and some support services. The scholarship programme is a project coordinated by the University of Turku and funded by the Kone Foundation. The application deadline April 5, 16.00, Finnish time.

Doctoral candidates, post-doctoral researchers and teachers in the fields of the humanities, social sciences or environmental sciences, and affiliated with the Finnish member universities, are eligible for this scholarship. Research in the fields of education, psychology, theology, law and business is only eligible in case of a wider multidisciplinary context. The amount of the scholarship is 2400 euros/month for doctoral candidates or 2800 euros/month for post docs and advanced researchers. The monthly scholarships will be paid out by the Kone Foundation but administered by the coordinator. In addition, the project will pay a travel grant of up to 800 euros except that for those employed by the University of Turku the travel costs will be paid up to 800 euros. The grantees will pay visa and other travel costs. Please see also the section Conditions for receiving the scholarship below.

The scholarships are intended for longer research periods in China, and the Nordic Centre at Fudan University, Shanghai functions as a base for the grantees. The scholarship programme is intended to support and expand China-related research conducted in the Finnish member universities, therefore the affiliation with the Finnish member university during and after the research period is relevant. The aim is to stimulate researchers to expand their research focus towards research connected with China and to make longer research periods in China possible for them. In addition to the individual research work, one of the aims of the project is also to encourage researchers to develop and contribute to the research intentions of the Finnish member universities and especially with Fudan University and to create new networks and long-term academic contacts. The research carried out under this programme can be either focused on China or based for example on a comparative method, in which the knowledge of Chinese is not necessary. In both cases, however, the key criterion of selection will be cooperation with Chinese scholars. The Nordic Centre can help to make contacts with the relevant academics at Fudan University. When possible and relevant, the grantees who are doctoral candidates can attend courses or other educational events offered by the Nordic Centre. It is recommended that applicants also familiarize themselves with the Handbook for Visiting Scholars when planning their research period there:

Conditions for receiving the scholarship:

Salary, other scholarships, taxation and sanctuary payments

The grantees of this scholarship must take care of all legal obligations and consequences concerning e. g. taxation, statutory insurance and retirement plan fees as well as personal insurances. The Social Insurance Institution MELA provides pension, accident and group life insurance coverage for those under Finnish social security system and receiving scholarships. Statutory insurance payments are approximately 12 - 15% of the monthly grant. Further information on MELA insurance and payments: <https://www.mela.fi/en/grant-and-scholarship-recipients> and in Finnish: <https://www.mela.fi/fi/apurahansaajat>. The project will inform MELA of individuals who have received funding. It is, however, the responsibility of the grant recipient belonging to the Finnish social security system to contact MELA themselves in order to arrange their coverage. The grantees not belonging to the Finnish social security system should secure suitable insurance coverage during their stay in China. In addition to contacting MELA it is also important to contact Kela and taxation office when arranging the period abroad.

In the essence, the monthly scholarship is meant to cover most of expenses in China including the accommodation costs. Therefore, in general those scholarship receivers who are employed should normally be on leave from their salary work. The grantees holding also another scholarship need to follow the rules of both financing parties. However, especially post-doc researchers and senior researchers may in some cases discuss with their employer on whether they could also be paid part of their salary. The purpose would be then to compensate a possible reduction of the income level during the research period in China. In general, the grantees could obtain 25 % of their salary at the maximum, and the research conducted in China should be related to the researcher's general research profile. Especially if the paid salary is higher than 25 %, it can reduce the amount of the payable grant. Also, another scholarship may have an effect to the amount of this grant. It is recommended that another income (partial salary or another scholarship) is mentioned already in the application. In case this is not possible or known at that point, the contact person at the University of Turku needs to be informed of any such arrangements prior to the payment of the actual grant. The Kone Foundation will make the final decision on the amount of the payable grant in such occasions.

Affiliation to the home university

Applicants and receivers of this scholarship should be affiliated with a Finnish member university during the research period in Shanghai. See also the attachments required above. The aim is also that the grant receiver will return to the member university after the research period and benefit the research community with the new contacts and networks.

Following the rules of Kone Foundation in this project

The project follows the rules and instructions given by Kone Foundation: (<http://www.koneensaatio.fi/en/tuemme/forgrantrecipients/>) for all its grantees. The project is responsible of all the coordination towards Kone Foundation in issues like grant payments and reporting. The following sections are the most important for an individual grantee: social security; taxation; research funding, ethical considerations, reuse of research material and open access. Individual grantee should also see in the section Grant payment the following points: changes, suspension of payment and cancellation. The coordinator (University of Turku) is however, the primary contact point in any questions concerning the granted scholarship or matters related to the research period.

After the research period at the Nordic Centre, the grantee is required to write a report to the project committee and to the Kone Foundation. The coordinating university, member universities, Kone Foundation and MELA will handle the applicants and scholarship receivers' personal data according to their data protection rules.

The University of Turku data protection information is available here:
